A Bird's Nest raising funds for Conservation.... On Segera, nowhere else.

Created by NAY PALAD to sustain Segera's groundbreaking conservation initiatives in Kenya, the Bird Nest is a one-of-a-kind accommodation at award-winning Segera Retreat, inspired by the beauty of nature and offering a new concept of nesting and sleeping like a bird - above the ground, with 360 degree sceneries and a bird's eye view over this beautiful wilderness.

A collaboration between Segera and NAY PALAD, creator of artisanal objects and magical destinations, both envisioned a peaceful jewel at the very heart of the natural world. With this imaginative approach, their idea of a bird nest came to life - an inspiring living space unlike anything else in the world, and most importantly, designed to sustain Kenya's wildlife for future generations.

As guests' accommodation at Segera Retreat is kept exclusively for them while they visit the NAY PALAD Bird Nest, there is an additional fee for this extraordinary safari experience.

This Bird Nest fee enables Segera to conserve and safeguard its wildlife, local communities and land. In fact, Segera's initiatives not only help to protect its 50,000 acres of wildlife refuge, and all those who depend on it for their survival, but they also reach further afield with some exciting large-scale conservation plans already in motion. These exciting activities include the formation, training and employment of Segera's All-Women Anti-Poaching Ranger Unit, as well as our potential formation of the largest rhino sanctuary in East Africa, if not the world.

After an exhilarating game drive or bush walk, guests are brought to the NAY PALAD Bird Nest just before sunset. The nest is lit up with lanterns, with "Sundowners" of champagne and culinary delights laid out on the top deck where guests will enjoy a magical African sunset, feast on a picnic-style dinner and fall asleep under the sparkling African sky (or in the sheltered luxury of the bedroom below) ... The following morning, breakfast is delivered to their doorstep, to be enjoyed while watching elephants, giraffe and other wildlife at the river.

To wake up to the magical sounds of wild animals at play, surrounded by pristine nature as far as the eye can see - this is a place of true, untouched wonderment.

On a practical note, as guests will spend the rest of their stay at Segera Retreat, their personal villa attendant will have brought their nightwear and toiletries to the Bird Nest, which includes a fully-equipped bathroom, with running water (solar heated) and a flushing toilet. So even amongst these wild and intimate surroundings, guests continue to experience Segera's sheer luxury and bespoke service, surrounded by the purity of wildlife and warmth of the African sun.

The NAY PALAD Bird Nest is designed to sleep two guests, but a cozy family would also be welcome - for example the parents may choose to sleep in the first-floor bedroom, while older children would love the adventure of sleeping out under the stars.
