SOUTH LUANGWA NATIONAL PARK

HIGHLIGHTS

Still wholly wild and devoid of crowds, South Luangwa National Park is a destination for the modern day explorers seeking an authentic experience. Renowned for its world class predator action, the park has been nicknamed the 'Valley of the Leopard' thanks to prolific sightings of this elusive big cat. Diverse habitat supports large herds of elephants, countless bird species, abundant plains game and endangered species, such as wild dogs.

Immerse into this remarkable destination and reconnect with nature in a meaningful way. Stop. Touch the earth. Breathe the wild air.

SOUTH LUANGWA CAMPS

IN THE HEART OF IT ALL

Originally sited by Norman Carr decades ago, our South Luangwa camps are located in the best game areas of the whole national park. Each one has a unique setting, from an intimate river lagoon frequented by wildlife to a lofty perch along a sweeping curve of the Luangwa River.

Every suite is designed to reconnect guests with the natural world by providing an immersive, authentic experience. Panoramic views, open air design, natural light and organic materials bring the beauty of the South Luangwa to every moment of your stay.

October and November are great for predator action as animals gather at dwindling water.

From October to April is the best time of year to see endangered wild dogs.

GREAT ALL YEAR

- + Epic leopard and lion sightings
- + Iconic river crossings of large breeding herds of elephants
- + Wildlife photography - still a wild land devoid of crowds makes for great photography.

With the Luangwa River flowing at its highest levels, February and March is the season for boating safaris.

September to November is the best time of year to see the iconic carmine bee-eaters nesting in the dry riverbanks.

With many migrant species flocking to the river, this is an excellent time for birdwatching.

The walking safari season starts in earnest, running from May to mid November.
