

Foxes Safari Camps

HEALTH PRECAUTIONS AND PROCEDURES

Foxes Safari Camps welcome all guests back to their Camps and Lodges, for a naturally ventilated, socially distanced safari in Southern Tanzania. It is well documented that the risk of contracting Covid-19 is much reduced in the open air and therefore, the remoteness of these camps, together with their al fresco style lends itself to safer travelling. However, we have taken the advice from the WHO and from the Government of Tanzania to put into place precautions to further avoid any risk of infection.

This document will be updated with any new advice or changes to regulations, but represents the situation as we currently understand it.

*Our welcome to you will be warmer than ever.
Behind every mask is a big smile!*

Your Accommodation:

Every effort will be made to keep your stay as comfortable as possible whilst minimising the contact between any staff member and the room, so guests can relax in the confidence that their sleeping space has not been visited without their express consent.

Rooms will continue to be cleaned to the same high standards, but deep cleaning will now take place between guests' departure/arrival following the Ministry of Natural Resources and Tourism national standard operational procedures.

Wherever possible a room will be left vacant for 24 hours between occupants.

To avoid unwelcome contact, room cleaning will no longer be on a daily service unless specifically requested.

Laundry service will still be offered and laundry should be left outside the room door in the morning for collection.
