An aerial photograph of a lodge complex nestled within a vast, dense savanna landscape. The lodge features several interconnected buildings with light-colored walls and dark roofs, surrounded by lush green trees and shrubs. A small, irregularly shaped pond is visible near the lodge. In the background, a winding dirt road cuts through the forest, leading towards a distant horizon under a warm, golden sunset sky. The sun is low on the right side, creating a strong lens flare and casting a warm glow over the entire scene.
