What is a Safari Bush Walk?

Walking safaris are our preferred activity in this heavenly place.

This is your chance to explore the bush at a much slower pace and on a different level. You walk in small groups and escorted by an armed official wildlife scout and our experienced guides. This ensures your safety and gives you an exciting and educational view of the bush at ground level.

While you are exploring different wildlife species along the way, you will find that your senses are heightened to the sights and sounds of your surroundings.

Encounters can vary from walking up to a family of giraffes, or observing a herd of elephants to watching a cloud of Carmine bee eaters coming and going from their seasonal colonies.

Although the main activity at Island Bush Camp is walking safaris, we do also use a safari vehicle to get into a variety of walking areas or return from a walk after dark to discover some of the nocturnal wildlife in the area.

DON'T MISS!

Just outside the camp, there is a photographic hide at a muddy waterhole. It is regularly visited by families of elephants.

Sitting in the hide, observing them bathing is pure serenity. Make sure to spend some time there, immersing yourself in the heart of nature's beauty.

Imagine yourself under the dazzling glow of the Milky Way. Cuddle down on a plush bed with your ears tuned in to the chorus of the Luangwa hippos, to the distant whoop of a hyena or to the chilling roar of a lion calling. Wake up to birds chirping while the sun starts to rise in the East.

Away from light pollution, the Luangwa Valley has stars so bright it feels you could reach out and touch them. At Three Rivers Camp you can sleep in your sumptuous tent, or head upstairs to the warm comfort of your own star bed and count the twinkling stars in the African sky.

With its day beds the platform is the perfect spot for a siesta with a view. At night, they are turned down into plush beds, for a romantic night under the stars. But should you change your mind, it's an easy retreat back to the bedroom without further inconvenience.

DON'T MISS!

Or rather... do miss!

Yes miss out on a morning activity to enjoy the sunrise from the warmth of your duvet - why rush out when you can peacefully watch the changing colors of the sky and listen to the dawn chorus of the African birds? Alternatively skip an evening drive to watch the sunset illuminate the river while sipping your favorite drink. The perfect end to a perfect day in paradise.
