OVERVIEW

The Bavarian style building, now known as Hilltop Guest House, was originally built as an art studio in 1954, and converted in 1999 to its present use. Despite incorporating facilities usually found only in up-market hotels, the owners of the day nevertheless created the welcoming ambience, intimacy and warmth of a small guest house.

That comforting atmosphere has been maintained and still prevails today under its new owners who also plan to restore the building to its former glory by recovering many features of the original building, lost over the years. Meanwhile its family-friendly accommodation, services and warm welcome remain, as ever, at the same high standards.

Hilltop Guest House is located close to the city centre, in a quiet residential area, perched on top of a hill, with magnificent views over the city and surrounding mountains. Proximity to the city means shops, restaurants and services are nearby, and airport transfers are easily arranged.

We offer three luxurious and three standard en-suite rooms, as well as one standard single room detached from the main building, with private entrance via stairs at the bottom of the garden. All are spacious and elegantly decorated in individual styles, fully equipped to satisfy all the needs of our Guests.

At Hilltop Guest House, the comfort, needs and interests of our Guests are paramount. Whether you are starting or ending your Namibian Adventure in Windhoek, or staying a while in the Capital, you may rest assured that your stay with us will be relaxing, homely, worry-free - in fact, all that you wish! . . .
