PATAGONIA'S SPIRIT

The Surroundings

So close, and yet so far: that is exactly where EOLO is located within the Patagonian geography. The property on which it stands, a 10,000 acres estancia, is close to the most important southern icons - The Andes Mountains, the lakes and the glaciers - while immersed in the steppe's windy silence.

The Hotel

EOLO's design is one that dialogues with its surroundings. All of its spaces have outside views and the structure's dynamics centers around a vital element: the central garden.

This surface facilitates circulation within the installations and allows enjoyment of the outside while finding protection from the Patagonian winds.

From there, guests will be able to inhale the freshness of Patagonia and relish in the simplicity of this space which changes daily based on our conviction that strength always lies in the details.

The Restaurant

The hotel's gastronomy brings together the best of the two worlds that compose EOLO: our chef - Juan Pablo Bonaveri - who has been in charge of the restaurant for the past five years - uses and optimizes regional products while, at the same time, applying international cuisine techniques and aesthetics.

Breakfast may be accompanied by the mesmerizing sunrise, lunch in front of the immensity of the landscape, teatime is the moment to enjoy our delicate selection of blends accompanied by some exquisite pastry pieces.

The bar is also an ideal place to relax - before or after dinner - and to exchange anecdotes and experiences of the day's journeys.

The Rooms

The pastel colors and the simple lines share the space with antique furniture, which envelops guests in the spirit of a typical southern Argentinian estancia. Each of the 17 rooms was conceived in a way that guests can enjoy a profoundly restful sleep and are also able to relish in the contemplation of the scenery from the intimacy of their room.

Superior room

Lake, steppe and/or cordillera views. Twelve rooms, each with its unique decoration, two of which allow an extra bed and triple occupancy. The average surface of each room is 400 square feet (37 m²).

Premium room

In addition to the outside window - also present in the Superior category - these rooms have a second window with a view to the hotel's garden. There are three of these, each decorated differently. All have the option of an extra bed. Average surface is 500 square feet (47 m²).

Corner room

These rooms have a double window in the corner which allows the immensity of the scenery to subtly become part of the room. It is the highest category and there are only two of these rooms in the hotel. Average surface is 515 square feet (48 m²).

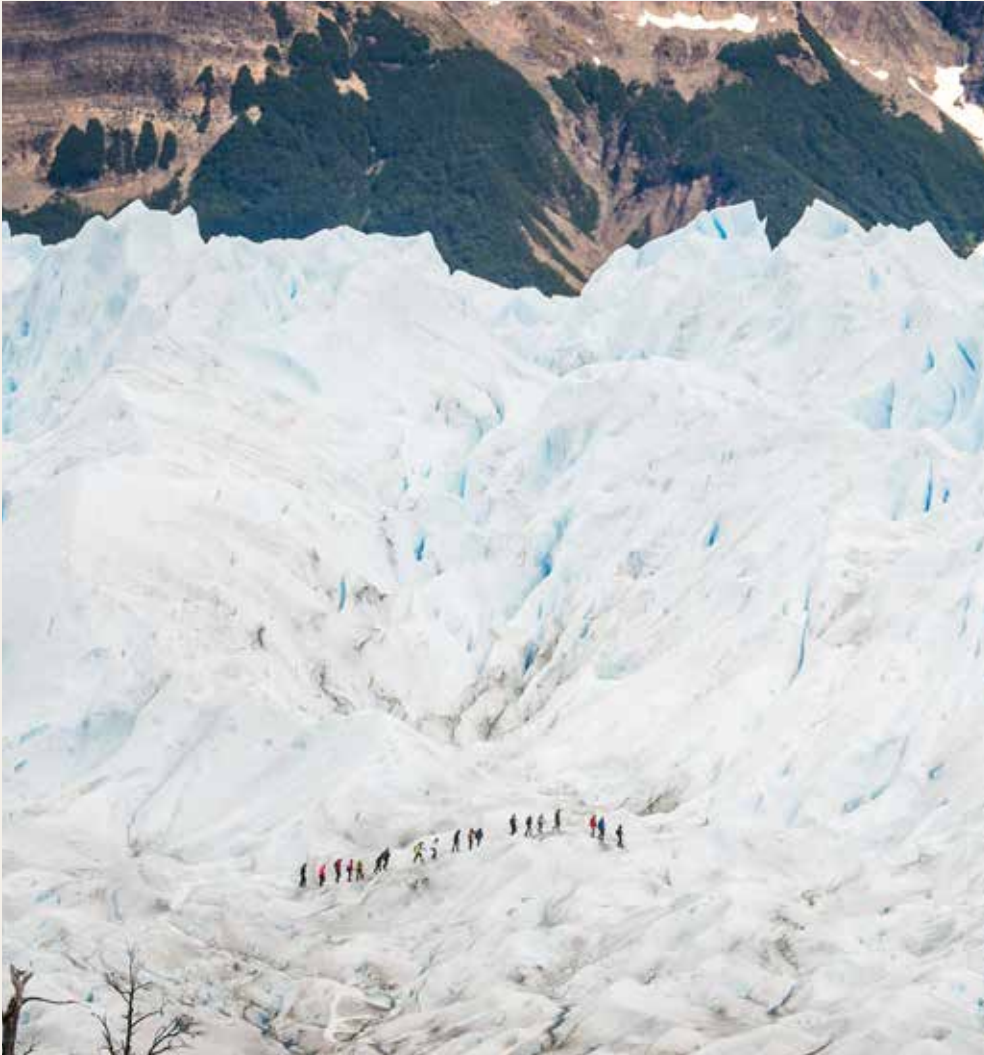

Activities

We suggest guests to reserve at least one day to explore EOLO and its surroundings. There are many activities that are exclusively available to our guests. The hotel has its own guide who coordinates all of the outdoor experiences: trekking, mountain bike, bird watching, four wheel drive outings, canopy and horseback riding tours.

Perito Moreno Glacier is the greatest attraction in the area and only 50' drive from the hotel. Once inside Los Glaciares National Park, one or more of these options may be chosen:

- a) Main viewpoint plus walkways in front of the glacier.
- b) Short duration boat cruise along the glacier's front wall.
- c) Trekking or walk on the ice using crampons.
