Kosher Guidelines

1. Londolozi Kitchen is NOT a certified Kosher Kitchen, however, we are more than happy to prepare any Kosher food the following way and style.

- a. All Kosher Food is ordered in from Johannesburg in a raw / fresh state from Nussbaum's* in Johannesburg
- b. All Kosher Food is kept separate
- c. All Kosher Food is cooked in separate pots and pans and double wrapped when in the oven.
- d. We are aware of the Kosher Rule of not mixing Dairy and Meat. No Pork. No Shellfish and whatever other dietary may be attached.

2. We order in a selection of meat, closest to what we are serving on our menu for the guests stay. This can be anything from Fillet of Beef to Chickens, Cold Meats, Sausages, Lamb Chops and Smoked Salmon. We also receive a delicious supply of Norwegian Salmon which is deemed Kosher as well.

3. For our very strict Kosher Guests – we cook the food in the above system, and we also have what we call our “Kosher Kit” which is a completely separate set of crockery, cutlery & glassware as well as cooking utensils, which we make available solely for our Kosher guests use.

At Londolozi, we assist all of our guests with any of their dietary requirements to the best of our abilities.

Should you wish to contact our Executive Chef, Anna Ridgewell directly to discuss anything further, please email her on executivechef@londolozi.co.za

* Nussbaum's Kosher Butchery was established in 1936 and as the leaders in the kosher meat industry continues to supply the local and international meat market with only the best quality fresh and cold meats available. This traditional family butchery continues to be run generation after generation by the Lurie family. Keeping up with the times and continually adding new products to their every increasing list is all part of their day's work! They are mehadrin.
