

Jan's dream was to build a lodge elevated on stilts and Jaci's Tree Lodge is the realization of this. From your arrival, through the thatched entrance, you are elevated above the riverine forest floor with views of the surrounding trees and sky. The main lodge fans out; to the left an inviting lounge with a bar area and to the right the dining room complemented by an open plan kitchen allowing you to savor the sights and smell of what the chefs are creating for you. From here the elevated walkway leads towards the raised boma area surrounding an open fireplace.

With only eight luxurious tree houses, seemingly suspended up to four meters from the ground and encompassing either a giant Tambotie or Leadwood tree; each located within the riverine forest. These spacious trees houses are built utilizing a combination of rosewood, thatch and stacking doors. An open plan, en-suite bathroom with an enormous stone bath and outdoor jungle shower allow you to enjoy your forest surrounds and feel at one with nature.
